

Are you providing your staff with the footwear they need and deserve?

FIVE sound reasons

for not allowing staff to wear their own footwear

Every employer has a duty to provide its staff with adequate protection from risk.

The hygiene – critical environment of many workplaces means that staff bringing in their own footwear could quickly expose themselves – and you – to a range of problems including:

SIX great reasons

for providing Toffeln foot protection

Toffeln's smart range of professional footwear avoids these problems for just pence per week – as well as providing staff with the comfort and support they need to do their jobs properly.

Say goodbye

to static

Static electricity has a long history of causing problems in sensitive locations. Antistatic footwear is still one of the best ways of tackling this to reduce:

- Potentially serious impact on delicate procedures
- Interference with sensitive electronic equipment
- Static's ability to attract contaminated dust particles and spread infection

A recent study has shown that eliminating static from your body could also help reduce stress.

Exceptional comfort

in every step you take

Many Toffeln customers find that comfortable footwear offering the correct support not only boosts morale, it increases performance levels significantly too.

Our wide range of comfortable footwear is specially designed for your all day comfort.
